Check out these football playing robots

If a football manager described his team's performance as robotic, it wouldn't normally be a good thing. But these players can't really help it! The specially programmed players are training for a big competition: the robot soccer world cup. The robot's movements aren't controlled by humans. They're using artificial intelligence technology, learning how to play better all by themselves.

Terracotta Warriors: Meet the hidden underground army!

These are the terracotta warriors. An army made out of clay. Buried deep underground, secretly guarding the tomb of China's first emperor for more than 2,000 years - until they were discovered by accident, as farmers dug the land. The emperor believed that these full-size clay soldiers would protect him in the next life after he died. They've been brought to surface for everyone to see, and have now come to the UK.

UNICEF: Rights Respecting school

In KS1, they have also now elected all of their UNICEF councilors. They can now help us win the award. Ms. Flora and some other children have been packing all of our donations for the backpack appeal into backpacks that will be taken to poor places in Africa to help children in need.

We have now had our tea parties based on our particular books. Year 5&6 were lucky enough to taste Year 6's delightful muffins that they made during DT week.
