Happy New Year

Happy New year! On Monday 1st January 2018, the whole world celebrated the start of the new year 2018. It is the 2018th year of the AD era. There are some big events coming up in 2018 such as the football World Cup which will take place in the summer. What is your new year's resolution? Milan from Obsidian class quoted "I had such a nice time with my family during the holidays but I couldn't wait to get back into the new school for my second term in" We hope you have a great year.

Dancing policeman in India

He is inspired by Bollywood and has a Freddie Mercury-style moustache — but it is the Michael Jackson dance moves of traffic cop Ranjeet Singh that grab attention on India's chaotic streets. Heads turn and drivers cannot fail to notice when the 38-year-old moonwalks across busy intersections, avoiding rickshaws and trucks in the center of Indore, a city of two million people. Singh has become a social media phenomenon with nearly 50,000 people following his activities on Facebook while spectators add videos to sharing platforms every day. Singh claims the number of traffic violations at the high court intersection where he spends most days has fallen over the years. An Indian university is studying his methods to see whether he has cut traffic jams too.

Welcome Back

We hope you enjoyed your Christmas holidays which lasted over 12 long days. Well done to all of you for spending time away from playing and focusing on extra practice and homework as well. Although it was the holidays it is good to refresh your mind, you should be get back to doing your mind and go through all of the things that you have learn throughout the year. Apart from that it is still a good time to rest so that you are ready to go back to school.

UNICEF: Rights Respecting school

We hope you all made your donations for the backpack appeal. Well done if you have. Ms. Pal collected so many great donations which Mrs. Murphy will send to the more unfortunate children in Africa who do not have as much money as you so therefore cannot afford as much as you can. It was a very thoughtful and kind act of you to make an attempt to help other children around the world who aren't as lucky as you are.

On Monday the 8th of January, the years 5&6 of the UNICEF group (which is run by Mrs. Murphy) will stay back at school to teach the teachers about the UNICEF Rights Respecting school award. They will also talk about the background of UNICEF and what it actually is. Many different activities will be held. All of the activities are going to be held by the year 5&6 children of the UNICEF group.
