HAPPY DIWALI

Yesterday Year 3 did their Diwali assembly, where they told us the story of why Diwali is celebrated and they learnt a lot too....

Diwali is the festival of light. I enjoyed performing in the assembly as it helped me become more confident in performing in front of people. Helped me learn a bit more about Diwali – Arjan

Diwali is a celebration based on the story of Rama and Sita, I didn't know the story before. I am happy that I learnt about it because I now know more about other people's beliefs – Safa

It's a beautiful time of year and I am so pleased with how the children came together for a great performance- Mrs Salim

REMEMBRANCE

They are worn so that we remember those people who have given their lives in World War One. The poppies are especially chosen to mark this event because the battlefields that the wars took place on, started growing bright, red poppies. Every year, people all over the U.K make poppies and to wear one, people make a donation in order to get their poppy. The tradition of wearing poppies started to raise money to help people who had fought in wars. The poppies weren't always made out of paper like they are today. They used to be made out of silk, which is quite a soft and expensive material. This was started all the way back in 1921 and it still being done to this day!
