World cup 2018

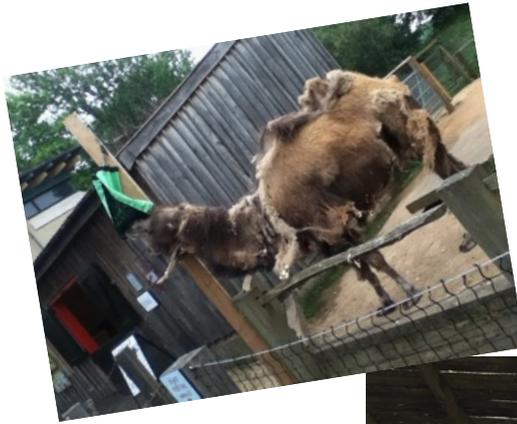

The Football World Cup in Russia kicked off on the 14th of June 2018. The hosts Russia had a great start to the tournament while other countries such as Argentina and Germany have not. Many historic moments have been made. For example: Ronaldo's hat-trick, Messi's penalty, Harry Kane's last minute goal and many others. Football fans all over the world will hope that the World Cup continues in this thrilling fashion.

Baby born on Paris commuter train gets free rides until he is 25

A baby boy who was born on a Parisian train on Monday has been given free rail travel until he is 25 by the city's public transport company. The RATP first started tweeting that a passenger had been taken ill at Auber station in central Paris. But it later tweeted that traffic had been interrupted on the RER A commuter line "following the unexpected birth of a baby on a train" at the station. It later congratulated the mother and offered the baby free travel.

Gunnersbury Museum is ready to reopen

The 19th century mansion once owned by the Rothschild family will be seen in all its glory once again on Saturday when Gunnersbury Museum reopens to the public.

Following a huge multi-million pound regeneration project at the mansion's museum and grounds, there will be a packed weekend of family activities to celebrate on Saturday (June 23) and Sunday (June 24). The once-neglected museum has been transformed and boasts new gallery and learning spaces, as well as a brand new exhibit telling the stories of Ealing, Hounslow and local people.

The years had taken their toll on the house but the grand design by fashionable 19th century architect Sydney Smirke has been restored, bringing to life the once opulent home of the Rothschild family

Queen has a new great-grandchild

The Queen's granddaughter, Zara Tindall, has had a baby girl. The baby was born on Monday and is the Queen's seventh great-grandchild. The baby is Zara Tindall's second child, and will be a little sister for four-year-old Mia Tindall. The name of the baby has yet to be released by her family, who say they are "delighted" with the news.

Infants sports day

Infants sports day

On Tuesday 12th June, the infants had their sports day afternoon. There were many activities and stations such as sprinting and hurdles. At the end Mr. Berryman found out the results and Red came 1st, yellow was 2nd, green was 3rd and blue was 4th. All of the children got ice-lollies and stickers. The junior sports leaders had a lot of fun teaching the infants. All of the parents watched their children race and they even made signs and brought pom-poms and whistles!

Visitors from around the world

Last week visitors from all around the world came to wellington school and came to look at our books. The teachers from the various countries were impress by the standard of the work. They were interested in our evaluations and next steps which we do at the end of lessons. The children who showed their books told them about the thinking hats and maps.
